DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1- 7, 19 and 20 are drawn to method of use.

Group II, claims 8-18 are drawn to compound and compositions.

Group III, claim 21, drawn to method of making.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The compounds in the claims lack special structural element qualifying as special technical feature that defines a contribution over the prior art. The compounds in the claims 1-17, 20 and 21, Guanidine derivatives and the related compounds, do not contribute over the prior art. US Patent 4,624,956 (Column 5, line 25- 36) teaches use of the compounds from the same family as antagonist to histamine receptor. Therefore, unity of invention is lacking and restriction of the invention in accordance with the rules of unity of invention is proper.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

In Group I, in the method of use election of a single compound (or set of compounds which fall in the same group) is required including an exact definition of each substitution on the base molecule (structures defined) wherein a single member of each substituent group or moiety is selected. For example here in formula I for A elect any one of specific group like methyl or phenyl.

In Group II is elected, again election of a single compound (or set of compounds which fall in the same group) is required including an exact definition of each substitution on the base molecule (structures defined) wherein a single member of each substituent group or moiety is selected.

If Group III is chosen, about the method of preparation, it is required being specific to a compound or group of compounds with the base structure defined. In addition it is required to define the group A in the structure like phenyl or methyl.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Group I, claims 1- 7 and 20.

Group II, claims 8-17

Group III claim 21

The following claims are generic: Group I claims 1 and 19, Group II claim 18 and Group III - claim 21.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The compounds described in the claims have already been described in the prior art US Patent 4,624,956 (Column 5, line 25- 36) and 'Tetrahedron Letters' 42 (2001) 8911-8913 (page 8912, 2nd paragraph) and also the method of using neuropeptide FF receptor in 'Peptide' 16 (1995) 105-111 (page 105 abstract line 5-12). The method of making similar compounds has also been described in the prior art US Patent 4,624,956. (Column 5, line 8—17) Accordingly, the claims do not provide a new inventive concept over the prior art and thus they lack unity of invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues.
